The Academy for International Movement Studies

(AIMS) is a unique learning institution. As a co-ed private secondary school, it offers college-preparatory courses with a specialized focus on Movement Studies and Dance.

Our goal is to provide young adults a traditional education in a rewarding cultural setting. Throughout the year, AIMS takes educational advantage of a variety of vivacious cultures. Each location is carefully chosen for their cultural offerings of excellent movement studies, foreign language, varying biomes and historical value.

All the components of an AIMS education will give your student an inspirational and challenging learning environment combined with an experience that will last a lifetime.

Curriculum

We are very proud of our dance program, academic and elective courses and cultural participation opportunities that provide educational advantages to our students. Each quarter, our inspiring teachers take into account their international locations to create innovative and applicable subject matter for our well rounded curriculum which includes, dance, physical education, math, English, science, social studies, foreign language and invaluable electives.

The Academy for International Movement Studies rounds out the year with a 6-week Summer Program. A Gap-Year program is also available and is perfect for pre-college students.

Destinations

The Academy for International Movement Studies researches for exciting places to travel to such as Greece, Guatemala, Chile, New Zealand, The Netherlands and Nepal, among others. AIMS sets up a base to live, learn and participate in these other cultures.

At each semester's completion, apart from academic testing, a performance at local venues in the country of origin is scheduled for the ultimate cultural performance experience.
